to Lake Michigan will offer opportunities for every manufacturing establishment in the city to extend its trade. This means something to Grand Rapids and to its army of wage-earners.

DEMOCRAT'S WALL.

It is asserted by democratic organs that the present financial stringency is the direct result of the "four years of republican mismanagement" immediately preceding Mr. Cleveland's induction into office. This is democracy's old-time wall. Whenever the leaders of the party are brought face to face with an emergency, they drag out their stereotyped excuse and attempt to prove that the republicans are directly responsible for the crisis. To characterize President Harrison's administration as "mismanagement" is the absurd and ridiculous to which a denial. It is conceded by everybody, except, perhaps, a few parrot democratic partisans, that Benjamin Harrison's administration was one of the best, ablest and most business-like that the country has ever known.

The democratic party is face to face with a condition that it cannot meet. It has no definite financial policy and stand between the gold Beryla and the silver Charybdis. The Wall street bankers demand one thing and the silver barons of the west demand another. There is a serious difference of opinion between the president and his secretary of the treasury, Mr. Cleveland's idea of a business-like policy is to slaughter the Sherman silver law at any cost. The administration has reached a point where it can neither go back nor advance. In the meantime the democratic organs point to their leader's embarrassing plight and shriek, "The republicans did it!" This may be good democratic argument, but it will not hoodwink the people or extricate Mr. Cleveland from the position in which he has placed himself and his party.

JAPANESE IMMIGRATION.

San Francisco newspapers have begun to wage war against the Japanese, claiming their immigration is as great a menace to American civilization as that of the Chinese. Railroad contractors have employed Japanese laborers, and the white workmen are beginning to protest. The Japanese have overriden the Chinese in the Sandwich Islands and in all other places where they have come in competition. It is an interesting question now whether it will soon become necessary to restrict Japanese immigration as it has Chinese.

It is perhaps unfortunate that most of the information concerning the children of the Flowery Kingdom has been furnished by poets and novelists, neither of whom may be regarded as reliable historians. Much has been made of the aesthetic side of the Japanese nature; but unprejudiced travelers are inclined to tear down many of the idols that popular fancy and poetic inspiration have reared. The sons and daughters of fair Japan are far from being the spiritual, ideal people that they have been pictured. Their natures are coarse, sensual, animal, and they exhibit all the depraved instincts common to inhabitants of the orient. They are simple people in many things; but crafty, wily and treacherous in others. Naturally brighter than the Chinese, they have been regarded as a superior race. But is evident that fiction has had more to do with the popular conception of them than facts. America may continue to exalt Japanese art and bric-a-brac, but it is doubtful whether she would care to extend her enthusiasm to the race itself, if its true character were understood.

COUNCIL CONFIRMATIONS.

As a matter of abstract principle it must be admitted that the power of confirmation should be left with the legislative body to which it belongs. No one would think of taking from the United States senate the right of confirming the president's appointments. Yet the abuse of similar power by other bodies has caused many good citizens to believe it a mistake that such power should rest with a municipal legislature. It is just two years ago now that ex-Mayor Uhl tried to make a change in the office of city physician, but was prevented from doing so by the negative votes of a majority of the common council. In the matter of nominating a new street commissioner he was blocked by the political pull of one, William Fitzpatrick. It requires very extended knowledge of city affairs to be able to recite numerous instances when the city would have been better served had the power of appointment rested solely with the mayor. The United States senate has never been known to reject a cabinet nomination, and memory fails to recall when our state senators have voted back to the governor his nominations for officers that the law prescribes he shall fill. It is in the municipality, then, that this power has been abused until the vote to confirm a mayor's appointments has practically degenerated into an election among the aldermen. If an incumbent, for political or other reasons, is unsatisfactory or has a pull upon the members who vote on the confirmation, the mayor is powerless. The theory upon which this power was given is that somebody should be able to annul notoriously unfit or incompetent appointments, and that none other would be rejected. It is the abuse of this power by the members of the council that makes anybody think it should be taken away from them. If the proposed change in our city charter shall be finally made the law, the aldermen will have nobody to blame but themselves and previous members of that body.

WHAT WILL CARLETON DO?

What shall we do to stop the flow of gold from this country? Is the problem which is now facing the democratic administration, to the exclusion of all other political and party questions. The tariff has been laid away until another congress shall assemble in December. Our nation's leading statesmen are forced now to grapple with a more vital and serious problem. Mr. Cleveland and his advisers are proceeding cautiously, because they are fully aware of their own limitations when a real and knotty question demands solution. They are practically novices in the science of government as yet, and they feel that a blunder in the monetary matter would prove fatal to the administration. The situation is this: The act passed by the Fifty-third congress known as the "Sherman act" not because he was the author of it, as is erroneously stated by many, but because he was chairman of the conference committee which framed it, provides for the purchase by the government of 4,500,000 ounces of silver each month. This silver is stored in the government vaults, and treasury notes are issued therefor, redeemable in coin, gold or silver. The balance of trade is against this country to the extent of $62,000,000 during the last nine months. This occasions the export of money from this country, and gold is the money demanded. Under these-called "Sherman act" the silver owners take their silver to the treasury, secure treasury notes redeemable in gold, rush to the sub-treasury in New York and demand gold for them, and the gold is sent abroad. The real cause of the financial depression is in this country. What will Mr. Carleton do?

Last night's Evening Press announced that in the future its Sunday edition would be no more. This may be something of a surprise to the readers of that paper; but to those who are acquainted with the journalistic hacks in whose custody the prosperity of the paper has been intrusted, the announcement will cause no astonishment. Men upon whose previous record the word "failure" has been many times branded, might reasonably be expected to abandon at least one edition, if not sooner or later the remaining six.

GRAND RAPIDS' furniture exhibit for the world's fair is ready to be shipped, and every resident of the city will be gratified to know that it will be a credit to the great industry that is the pride of western Michigan. Notwithstanding the confusion and delay that preceded the work of preparing the exhibit, the manufacturers have prepared a display which is in every respect a representative one and which will be viewed with pride by every person from Grand Rapids.

CHICAGO thieves are unique, competent, skillful, picturesque, anything that you wish; but the villain who attempted to steal Columbus' remains is the uncrowned king of them all. And if the graceless robbers will flinch the dust of a dead man, how shall the live visitors to the fair hope to escape?

YESTERDAY Mrs. Potter Palmer drove the golden day that completed the Women's building. She didn't pound her thumb, either, and the horrid men who have been indulging in malicious jokes at the expense of the fair president are shamefully disappointed.

DETROIT has a highway robber, who on conviction pulled a handful of a juror's whiskers out by the roots. This cost the criminal the addition of four years to his sentence. But it will take longer than that for the juror's whiskers to grow out again.

MONROVIA has scored another triumph. The Standard Oil company has absorbed its only formidable rival, the Manhattan Oil company. Henceforth consumers of oil will pay whatever prices the Standard chooses to charge, or go without oil.

STUDENTS in Tufts' college, College Hill, Massachusetts, have chosen a young lady student as manager of the college football team. It is rather unnecessary to state that the manager of a football team never takes part in the game.

GOVERNMENT officeholders, according to the recent report of the United States civil service commission, numbered 183,488, having increased 88,948 since 1891. Of this number 112,800 are postal employees.

WELLINGTON R. BURT is making a strenuous attempt to defeat Senator Doran for the United States district attorneyship. This practically assures Senator Doran's appointment.

GROVER CLEVELAND and the Duke of Veragua are both in Chicago and neither has been sandbagged or robbed. Verily, the reports of Windy City wickedness were without foundation.

THERE is no chance for Grover Cleveland to obtain the impression that he is an uncrowned king. Not if he reads Henry Watterson's tri-weekly admonitions to the contrary.

WHEE Gladstone was a young man he wrote an ode which has recently been published in London. This may explain the recent attempt upon the grand old man's life.

ANOTHER Michigan murderer has been sentenced to Jackson for life, or until he can start a drug store and discover some way of occupying.

PROHIBITIONISTS are gathering hope and inspiration because their party vote was nearly doubled in Rhode Island.

CLAY ASHES was a base ball whirlwind in his day, but dominion seems to be about his size now.

Nashville is bound to be sporty at any cost. She will have a football eleven this summer instead of a base ball team. But base ball is played in the autumn. Nashville is too progressive.
